The Neill Group: Nationwide field services, process serving and private investigations

We use proven investigative methodologies based on recognised best practice and robust processes

Solving civil, criminal, and commercial cases since 1987

We utilise the latest GPS and file management software to provide clients with live updates in real time from the field

Investigation assignments are supported with qualified forensic experts, document examiners and fraud investigators

Established regional based offices in Auckland, Wellington, and Christchurch, with a strategic network of agents across every area and district in New Zealand

The Neill Group is New Zealand's most experienced provider of field agents, document servers and private investigators. With over 30 years of experience, you can be confident engaging with a group who has built a robust reputation delivering results for private individuals, government agencies and commercial clients.

Our Field Agents offer a range of professional field services including audits, surveillance, repossessions, asset recoveries and investigation of dishonesty offences.

Our Process Servers deliver legal documents and court proceedings, on time and with respect. They take responsibility for hundreds of documents served across New Zealand every year.

Our licensed Private Investigators are highly proficient with investigating dishonesty in a business or personal relationship. Their objective is to reveal the truth and deliver the facts, so that informed decisions can be made.

“We use the Neill Group for tracing, process serving and investigations, they are efficient and always produce exceptional results.” SIMPSON WESTERN LAWYERS

WHY CHOOSE US?

Owned and operated by Dion Neill, one of New Zealand's longest established process servers, security providers and private investigators, no other agency in New Zealand can surpass our level of experience and expertise.

The New Zealand wide team at The Neill Group includes former members of the defence forces, law enforcement and intelligence community who are trained to think laterally and outside the square.

With agents vetted, Police approved and certified by the Ministry of Justice, you will be confident you're getting the most qualified and experienced legal support, private investigation and professional field services on the market.
